Plan Week of Holiday Festivities

Council May Clamp Down on Absentees

A constitutional amendment that would allow expulsion of Council members for excessive absenteeism will be considered at an EMC Student Council meeting Tuesday, December 16, in the alumni lounge of McKenny Hall.

At issue is the amending of Article 5, section 5 of the Constitution to read, "Any member of Student Council not in attendance to two meetings per semester without being excused by a Student Council officer be removed from the council with a 2/3 vote of the council."

One meeting of the group has already been forced to be cancelled this semester because of a lack of a quorum.

The Student Council also reminded campus organizations that they must have Council permission for any money-making project. Requests should be submitted to the Council as soon as possible.

Bob Asperger, Owen Hayes and Sherman Freund make up a committee headed by Betsy Anderson to paint council offices on the third floor of McKenny Hall, it was announced.

Deadline Soon For $2500 Fellowships

Seniors majoring in science or mathematics who are contemplating high school teaching are eligible to apply for a Sloan Fellowship for 1959-60 at the University of Michigan.

These fellowships will pay $2,500 for a year's study at that institution, plus travel expenses for one round trip from the student's home to Ann Arbor.

Well-qualified students will be able to earn a master's degree in science or mathematics in the period covered by each of these awards; that is, from September, 1959, to June, 1960.

Each applicant must declare his intention to teach for a reasonable length of time if he should receive a Sloan Fellowship.

Seniors who are interested should write at once to Dean Ralph A. Sawyer, School of Graduate Studies, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, for further information. The deadline for filing applications is February 1, 1959.

LAST CALL FOR PICTURES

Tomorrow (Friday) is the last day for EMC seniors to return their picture proofs to the Aurora office. Those students who have not yet returned their proofs should do so before 2:30 p.m. The Aurora office is on the third floor of McKenny Hall.

PAT DUNAWAY, EMC's 1958 Homecoming Queen, is also the campus' entry for Collegiate Snow Queen of Michigan.

Campus Enters Pat Dunaway In "Snow Queen" Contest

Pat Dunaway, chosen by the campus as its 1858 Homecoming Queen, will compete with contestants from throughout the state for the title of "Collegiate Snow Queen of Michigan," it has been announced.

The "Snow Queen" contest, which will draw students from all the colleges in Michigan, is being sponsored by Northern Michigan College, the Upper Peninsula's teacher training institution. The event will take place at Northern Michigan's Marquette campus.

Pat was chosen to represent Eastern by the Student Council last week, after the invitation from Northern was received. A sophomore from Keego Harbor, Pat lives in Buell Hall.

Prof. Parsons Named To Science Academy

Prof. Karl Parsons of the Department of Physics and Astronomy has been honored by election to the New York Academy of Sciences.

The New York Academy embraces all branches of science, including physics, chemistry, biology, engineering, and applied mathematics.

Mr. Parsons has had extensive research experience at the University of Michigan including the radio proximity fuse, photoelasticity, thermal stresses, and nuclear physics. He has published technical articles in The American Journal of Physics, The Proceedings of the Society for Experimental Stress Analysis, and The Journal of Applied Physics.

REGISTER FOR SING

All participants for the All-Campus Christmas Sing on December 18 at Pease Auditorium must register for rehearsal backstage at Pease. Contact William Kirk, HU 2-0068, regarding any questions or problems.

EMC Education Standards Up For Discussion

"Are the standards of higher education at Eastern Michigan College too low?" will be the topic of a panel discussion sponsored by the Women's League forum committee January 7.

Profs. Edward Potter, Lenore Bingley, and George Bird of the Department of English and Speech; and Prof. Hilton Falahee of the Department of Mathematics will comprise the panel.

In previous years, the forum has sponsored discussions of such topics as "Mickey Mouse courses" and "women in today's society."

Concerts, Parties and Caroling Featured in Pre-Christmas Activity

The holiday season will blossom forth again on the Eastern Michigan College campus this week as campus organizations, dormitories and the college music department join to celebrate Christmas with a full calendar of activities.

The music department will ring in the holidays tonight at 7:30 p.m. with the annual Christmas concert of the Choral Union. Several vocal groups will join the College-Civic Orchestra to provide the evening's music.

Music will highlight other campus activities also, with the traditional All-Campus Christmas Sing set for next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Pease Auditorium. Choruses from fraternities, sororities, foreign language classes and campus clubs will join in singing at the event. On Saturday, 65 young musicians from throughout southeastern Michigan, members of the EMC High School String Orchestra, will present a special Christmas Concert at 8:00 p.m. in Pease Auditorium. Prof. Maurice W. Riley will conduct.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The traditional All-Campus Christmas Party — perhaps the best attended of all college holiday events — will take place this Friday night at McKenny Hall from 8:30 p.m. to midnight.

A festive carnival atmosphere will prevail, with booths sponsored by various campus organizations. Dancing will be held in the main ballroom and the final contest in the Greek Talent Show will take place. Gail Ponte, representing Alpha Xi Delta sorority, and a vocal quintet representing Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, will compete for the honors of being chosen as the top campus Greek talent at an intermission show.

DORMITORY ACTIVITIES

All residence halls are busily planning decorations and activities for the holidays. At Goddard Hall, girls are decorating the exterior in the traditional nativity scene, while "Twas the Night Before Christmas" will be their inside motif.

Jones Hall will "Deck the Halls" with Christmas carols in blue and silver, while their lounge and date rooms will be decorated according to certain carols. On Saturday night, December 13, Jones will have its formal dance, Fantasy in White. Both Jones and Goddard Halls will join for Christmas caroling in their court on Tuesday night.

Downing's decoration theme will be "The Littlest Angel" and color motif will be green and gold. Stained glass windows will frame the hall entrance. "Christmas Spirit" week will begin today and end on December 18 with a Christmas party. During this week, each girl does nice things secretly for another resident. Downing's annual Christmas faculty tea will be held December 14.

King Hall will adorn the lounge in "Winter Wonderland" and their date rooms in various other Christmas songs. A snowman

Dean Brown and Mr. Buckingham Hospitalized

Dean of Men James M. Brown has been confined to a hospital bed following an accident Saturday evening in which he slipped and broke a hip.

The accident, which will hospitalize Dean Brown for three weeks, occurred while he was visiting friends in Wayne. Cards may be sent to him at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Also confined, the result of a liver infection, is William Buckingham, manager of college food services. Mr. Buckingham entered Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti last week and expects to be home for Christmas. He will return to work in January. Cards may be sent to room 309 at the hospital.

More Apply For Admission to EMC

Applications from all qualified students who seek admission to the second term session at Eastern Michigan College will be accepted through February 19, the college admission officer has announced.

Fred R. McDaniel, Director of Admissions, said, however, that a complete transcript of all work taken previously by the student, plus a complete application, must be in the admissions office by February 19.

An increasing number of applications for admission to the spring term of the 1958-59 year at EMC are already being processed.

Classwork for the fall semester ends Saturday, January 24, with examinations beginning Monday, January 26.

Orientation days for new or transfer students run from Monday, February 9 through Wednesday, February 11, and registration dates are Tuesday and Wednesday, February 10 and 11.

Students who register after 8 p.m., February 11, will be charged a late registration fee of five dollars.

EDITORIAL:

Eastern Michigan University ?

"Eastern Michigan University" — how does that sound? And, even if it does sound impressive, what would it mean?

University status for Eastern has been a topic for official and unofficial discussion for at least the past year, and many in the state are now watching with heightened interest for new developments.

What is a university? According to the American College Dictionary, it's "an institution of learning of the highest grade, having a college of liberal arts and a program of graduate studies, together with several professional schools and faculties (as of theology, law, medicine, engineering, etc.) and authorized to confer degrees."

Obviously, Eastern doesn't seem to fit the definition. The "several professional schools" are conspicuous by their absence. However, is there another commonly accepted meaning for the term "university" which would apply to this institution? Or is it necessary to adopt such a title to "keep up with the Joneses"?

What implications would such a title involve? Would it give the institution added status? What obligations regarding growth, standards, and student selection might it entail?

One student summed up his opinion briefly: "They're just now using up the last of the 'Michigan State Normal College' forms and stationery and starting to buy some for 'Eastern.' Let's give them five years or so to get that used up."

What's your opinion? We'd like to hear it, and print it. The Echo will welcome student comments on the issue in the form of letters to the editor. Letters, signed, and, if possible, typewritten, may be submitted to the information desk at McKenny Hall or to the Echo office on the third floor of that building. Signatures will be withheld from print if so requested. n.h.

Letters To The Editor

Editor's Note: The following was sent to the Detroit Free Press in reply to the letter reprinted in last week's Echo.

Reply to Free Press

To the Editor:

In the December 2 edition of the Free Press there appeared in the column As Others See It a letter from a student who identified himself as "Ex-Future Teacher" attending Eastern Michigan College.

According to his letter this student applied for a State Board of Education scholarship and his application was denied. Since the author of the letter elected to remain anonymous, it is obviously impossible to discuss the merits of the application.

The question was raised, however, as the whether this scholarship program is being managed in a responsible manner.

The policies governing the awarding to the State Board Scholarships are clear. The student must be pursuing a program leading to a teaching certificate. He must maintain a minimum of a B minus average. He must be in financial need.

Each holder of a State Board scholarship at Eastern is pursuing a program leading to a teaching certificate. Each holder is maintaining a B minus average. The last consideration is a difficult one to determine, but to the best of our ability to validate the information, each student has demonstrated need. Since there are always more applications that fit the three criteria than there are scholarships, the need factor becomes a relative consideration.

An exception to the above description does exist. It is the policy of the State Board of Education and the practice of Eastern Michigan College to allocate a maximum of 20 such scholarships in each of the colleges for foreign students. The national and international advantages to having students from other countries studying in American colleges during these days of suspicion, ignorance, stress, and unrest are too numerous to mention in this letter.

If "Ex-Future Teacher" will come to my office, I will share with him our records and files indicating the teaching programs being pursued by the present holders of the scholarships. We feel that the scholarship program is a vital link in providing financial assistance for competent students who otherwise would find it impossible to attend college. It is certainly never our desire to do violence to either the letter or spirit of the policies established by the State Board of Education.

Sincerely yours,
William C. Lawrence
Vice-President for Student Affairs

Criticizes Dorm Policies

To the Editor:

It seems to me that each phase of college life should endeavor to provide one with a sense of security in terms of making rational decisions, for it is widely acknowledged that the "Ivory Towers" provide a springboard for independent thinking.

When one embraces the world of "reality" beyond the protective atomosphere of the college, it seems only natural to assume that the new graduate has had an apportunity to make pertinent decisions.

However, it occurs to me that many colleges, including this one, fail to provide students with any opportunity to make value decisions above and beyond intellectual and academic consideration.

There is little opportunity to think rationally or critically, for decisions have been formulated, rules have been decided upon, and traditions have been firmly established.

Thus, the college student is constantly brought to grips with the fact that somehow he must conform, somehow he must fit into the mold. BEWARE OF THE INDIVIDUAL!

It would be highly irrational to assume that a college could function adequately without policies; however, I am suggesting that traditions should be re-examined, and rules reconsidered.

John Stuart Mill, author of On Liberty commented on the "fatal tendency of mankind to leave off thinking about a thing when it is no longer doubtful. . . ."

A contemporary author has well spoken of "the deep slumber of a decided opinion." Thus, perhaps we might well reconsider dormitory policies: signing in and out, room check, locking the TV room after closing, not using the pay phone after 11:00, etc., etc.

Upon re-examination, if it is agreed by an adequate number of persons that rules are the only effective means of controlling "radical" college students, then, of course, let our traditions continue.

"The Organization Woman"

Inter-Hall Council Position

To the Editor:

Last spring Inter-Hall Council voted against competitive decorations during Christmas.

It is our feeling that competition should be eliminated from Christmas activities because of its sacred meaning. We recognize that competition in its right place creates a spirit of cooperation in the resident halls. Also, we are aware of the interest that Alpha Phi Omega has shown on our campus through its service. However we do not sanction the contest currently being sponsored for Christmas decorations, because of our attitude toward the Christmas season.

Sincerely,
Inter-Hall Council

APO Cancels Contest

To the Editor:

Due to the objections of holding a Christmas decorations contest, the members of Alpha Phi Omega feel that it is better to cancel the contest this year. We hope those organizations that have entered the contest will not be disappointed due to the cancelation.

Best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Thank you for your cooperation.

STUDENT OPINION:

"EMC Debaters Lack Depth"

by C. June Dildine

The unjudged debate between Eastern Michigan College and the University of Chicago Friday, November 21, seemed to wander and progress nowhere.

The proposition, "Resolved: that the further development of nuclear weapons should be prohibited by international agreement," was debated by Al Helms and Bob Reeves (affirmative) representing Eastern and Miss Fisher and Miss Peterson (negative) representing the University of Chicago.

Both Mr. Helms and Mr. Reeves lacked forcefulness and depth of thought on the proposition. They based their affirmative argument on the reasoning: further testing is militarily, economically, and morally unsound. This reasoning might have been stimulated had they not concentrated on just the military unsoundness.

The negative debaters, Miss Fisher and Miss Peterson emphasized, "Development of nuclear weapons begins in the laboratory." Consequently, they argued, to stop development would be impossible because there is no way to check on the activities of every scientist in every laboratory in the world.

Eastern's representatives, Mr. Helms and Mr. Reeves, dismissed this argument by proposing a rather irrational solution—checking on national budgets to determine whether any large expenditures had been made which were not accounted for.

The two feminine representatives of the University of Chicago possessed very positive attitudes while presenting their negative stand on the proposition; and they were, on the whole, more convincing than Eastern's two debaters who failed to use retaliation effectively and were very ineffective in their statements regarding the negative team's concessions.

Doug Sanders Named Geography Club President

Douglas Sanders was elected president of the Geography Club for the remainder of the school year at a meeting of the group last week. Others elected include: David Kromm, vice-president; Hank Ruthowski, secretary-treasurer; and David Mielcarek, historian and publicity director.

The next club meeting — a regular business meeting followed by a social event — will be held January 15 at 6:45 p.m. in Strong Physical Science Building.

Holiday Activities

will watch over their entrance. Their week will be climaxed by a Christmas pajama party on December 18.

Christmas angels will ornament Buell in blue and white. A large life size angel will hover over the entrance to the hall. "Angel Week," which will end in a Christmas Party on Monday, December 15, is similar to Christmas spiriting.

All of the Women's dormitories will have a traditional Christmas breakfast led by the seniors on Friday morning, December 19.

Goodison men began their Christmas season with a tree-trimming party on December 10. On December 14, the west corridor of the second floor will host an open house.

At Munson Hall, 26 youngsters from the Wayne County Training Home will be guests at the hall's annual Christmas dinner on December 16. Entertainment will be provided by hall residents.

At Brown Hall, Santa Claus and his reindeer will top the hall entrance and four angels will guard the sidewalk. Christmas music will also be featured.

Buell, Downing, Goodison, Jones, and Munson will all hold faculty parent teas and receptions on Sunday, December 14.

Announce Christmas Library Hours

The EMC library will remain open during part of Christmas vacation, John L. Hefenrichter, acting head librarian, announced this week.

From December 22 through 24, and December 29 through 31, the downstairs portion will be open from 8:00 until 5:00 daily. The reserve room will be closed, but reserve books may be obtained from the circulation desk.

The entire building will be closed from December 25 through 28 and from January 1 through 4, but will re-open with regular hours January 5.

Ten Debaters At 'Mistletoe' Tourney

Ten debaters from Eastern Michigan College will attend Wayne State University's annual Mistletoe Tournament on December 16. Four colleges will participate — including Hillsdale, University of Detroit, Wayne and EMC.

Debating the national question, "Resolved: That Development of Nuclear Weapons Should Be Prohibited by International Agreement" will be the affirmative teams and negative teams.

Tracking the Hurons

by Ken Balcoff

Although the magic of the Huron cagers has already captured the hearts of the Eastern Michigan fans, it will not be long before indoor track will bring new excitement.

It is not necessary to tell the "old guard" students of the effectiveness of our track team. Everyone who has attended a track meet at Bowen Fieldhouse, or wherever the EMC cindermen come off the blocks, has thrilled to their past performances.

All will remember last year's meet with Indiana, the 1956-1957 Big Ten indoor track champions. It was in this meet that the Hurons fought back to win in the last event.

Yes, Eastern has had a great past as far as track is concerned. But what of the future? EMC will suffer greatly due to the loss of two shot putters, Jim Allen and Bob McMacken; 440 ace, Kerry Keating; and Paul Jones, the hurdler who was usually one-quarter step behind record holder Hayes Jones.

According to coach George Marshall, without these men the Huron thinclads could be "about 18 points weaker" this season. The only way to make up for this deficit is for all the men who have any ability at all to report for track.

Marshall would again like to urge the men to come out for track. He expects between 70 and 80 men. If there are as many as he hopes, a reserve team will be formed with a complete schedule.

Jones, Olds Honored

Hayes Jones, Eastern's fabulous hurdler, received further national prominence as the Amateur Athletic Union approved several American track and field records, Dec. 5 and 6 at the Chicago convention.

The following records were announced as recognized:

Hayes Jones, Eastern Michigan College, record 60 yd. high hurdles, 7.0 in Chicago, March 14, 1958.

Hayes Jones, 70 yd. high hurdles, 8.3, Eastern Michigan College, March 1, 1958.

Hayes is now recognized as the National Indoor and Outdoor high hurdle champion for the year 1958.

Also honored was Prof. Lloyd Olds, who was appointed to the National Track and Field Committee, the Physical Fitness Committee, and the Records Committee of the AAU.

DOWN COURT

Basketball Team Reaches '58 Total

by Jerry Levin

Opening the season with a 70-66 victory over Baldwin Wallace, the EMC basketball team equalled last year's win total.

Following the B-W game, an interesting question was posed in the minds of many: is the Huron basketball team ready, at last, to enter the realms of basketball respectability?

It was on this note that the Penquins of Youngstown University, led by All-American Herb Lake, Mickey Yugovich, and Jim Gordon, invaded Bowen Field House. The Youngstown squad, considered to be one of the best teams in the country, was a heavy favorite to humiliate Eastern.

The Hurons evidently were not aware of this fact, for with only three minutes remaining to play they moved to within four points of the Penquins. Although dropping the game in the final minutes of play, the team that left the court was far from defeated. They had shown EMC rooters a new brand of basketball.

To say Eastern basketball, 1958-59, was well-received would be saying the least. The spirit of the team was transmitted to the fans from whom it radiated in the form of some of the wildest cheering to bounce off the walls of Bowen in many a game.

Eastern will entertain Northern Illinois University this Friday at Bowen Field House. The Northern game will open conference activity for both teams.

Needless to say, the Hurons will be up for this must game. On the strength of two previous games it seems safe to say that the fans who turn out for this encounter will witness some fine basketball.

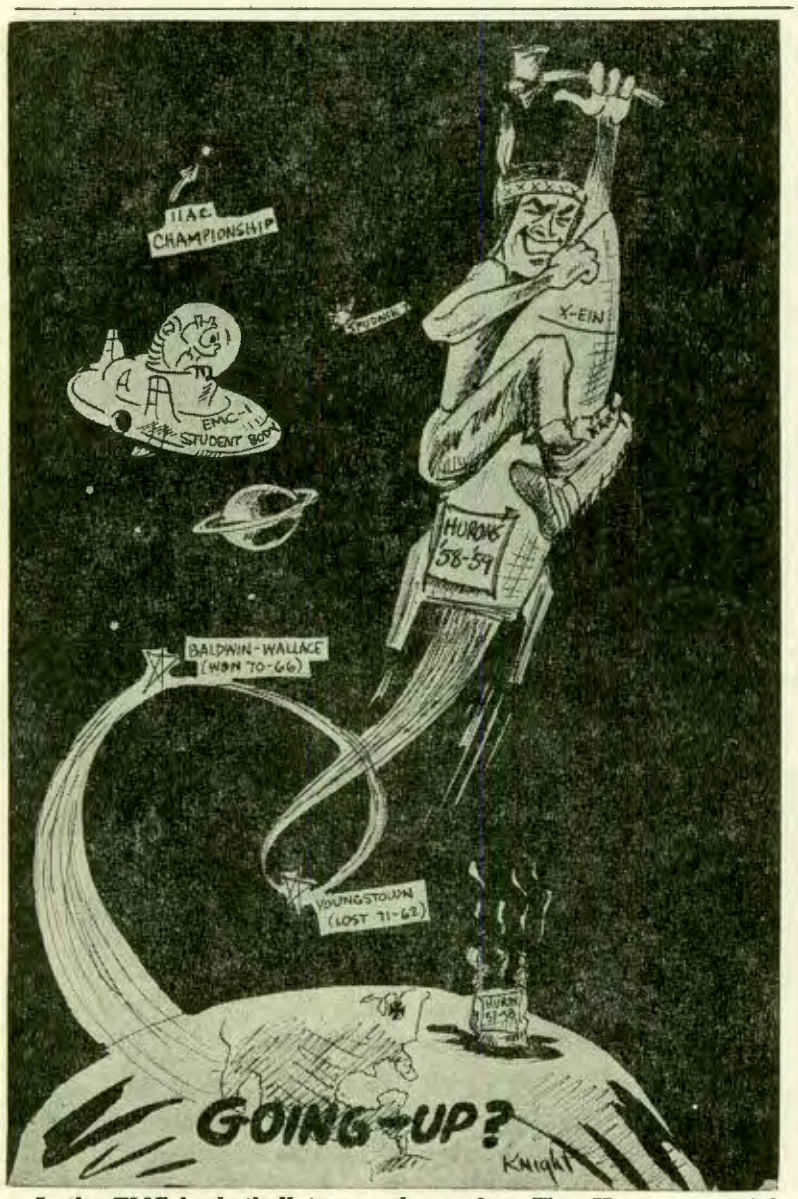
College Votes For Subsidies



Is the EMC basketball team going up? The Hurons certainly showed indications of improvement in their opening two contests.

Huron Highlights

by . . . . Bill Forster

Last Wednesday and Thursday, December 3 and 4, at Chicago, the IIAC held a meeting for the primary purpose of making a decision on what kind of, and how much, aid should be given to athletes. At present, Eastern Michigan gives no aid to athletes in preference to other members of the student body. This policy will not change as a result of the decision at Chicago.

Under the present set up, the IIAC allows the payment of fees, tuition, and books. Northern Illinois moved that the payment of 50 percent of room and board be added to this grant-in-aid type assistance. By a surprising vote of seven to one the Northern motion was defeated.

What do these statistics mean to the Eastern student? Absolutely nothing! EMC is in favor of the present grant-in-aid program only as opposed to the 50% for room and room and board. According to Dean Ralph F. Gilden, Eastern's representative to the convention, Eastern voted to keep the present grant-in aid not because the administration has had a "change of heart" over the idea of aid to athletes but rather that we shouldn't deprive other institutions of the perogative to give money because we can not.

A major product of the discussion on aid to be given to the athletes was the passage of a proposal of a sub-committee headed by Dean Gilden, to have all member institutions list all athletes receiving monetary aid and the type aid that they are receiving. Many people will look upon this decision bitterly and declare that athletes at other institutions were receiving aid from unreported sources before, and will continue to do so. In this case, I am inclined to agree with Dean Gilden, that all we can do is trust the integrity of the other conference members.

It is definitely felt that if flagrant violations exist (and some information clearly indicates this) that Eastern will soon be "shopping" for a new conference. One violation rumored is a supposed $25,000 fund earmarked for athletic aid which is reported about one of the member institutions. At present, all violations are referred to a league commissioner who has the power to investigate the incident as reported. This is a feeble gesture when one considers the "red tape" surrounding each protest.

Thus the problem is still in evidence. Eastern is in a league which has athletic expansion "on the brain." The only real accomplishment at the meeting was actually in a negative vein, I am inclined to feel: Eastern's exit from the IIAC is to be delayed for a little longer.

Looking for something? Oh, yes! a basketball, as the Hurons and Youngstown Penguins anxiously await the verdict in Saturday's game at Bowen.

2. Would you rather borrow money from a bank or institution than from a friend? YES ☐ NO ☐

3. Would you rather have tests sprung on you than be warned about them in advance? YES ☐ NO ☐

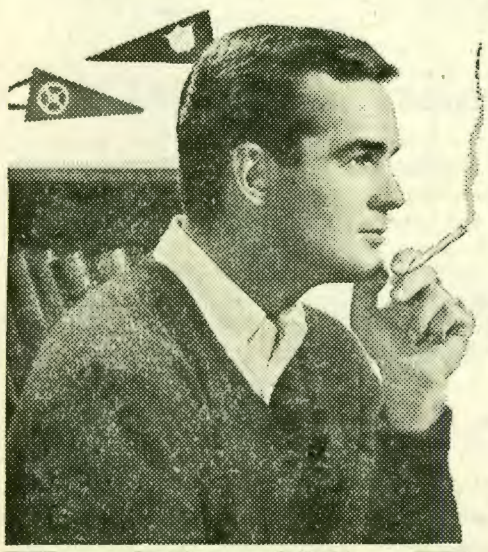
4. Do you think it's foolish to daydream? YES ☐ NO ☐

5. Do you believe it unwise to eat at irregular hours, even though you're hungry? YES ☐ NO ☐

6. If you actually saw a "flying saucer" land, would you run for your life? YES ☐ NO ☐

7. Would you be inclined to follow the latest style in clothes regardless of how it looked to you? YES ☐ NO ☐

8. Would you feel badly if you thought nobody at all knew where you were? YES ☐ NO ☐



9. Are you confused by the clamor of conflicting claims so many filter cigarettes are making these days? YES ☐ NO ☐

The fact is, thinking men and women don't let themselves get pushed and pulled by all those filter claims. They know what they want in a filter cigarette. And they know only VICEROY gives it to them. A thinking man's filter, a smoking man's taste. Makes sense.

Should you smoke VICEROY? If you think for yourself—chances are you do already!

If you have answered Yes to two out of the first three questions, and No to five out of the last six . . . you think for yourself!*

'Transplanted' U.S. College In France is Home For EMC'er

by Russ Briggs

Editor's Note: Russell Briggs is a former EMC student who is studying in France for one year.

"Me? Study abroad? Sounds nice, but that kind of a dream is strictly in left field as far as I'm concerned."

As much as I wanted to take a year of study in Europe, my reaction to the feasibility of it was almost as hopeless. Who can afford to get to Europe and back, let alone the expense of tuition and not to mention the language problem? I hadn't even had a high school foreign language course!

Well, here I am in Aix-en-Provence, France — studying. For those who may be interested, here is a brief run-down on the program: The institute for American Universities, now in its first year, is an accredited liberal arts institute which offers standard semester hour courses taught in English for junior level students. It is affiliated with the University of Aix-Marseille and shares facilities with the University and its Institute of French Studies for Foreign Students.

All this sounds impressive, but just what does it mean? IAU is a transplanted American college. Its students receive regular American academic instruction.

In addition, we may attend classes taught in French at the University. We may use all the University facilities since we are simultaneously enrolled there. And by living in this ancient cultural center, we have a unique setting. Aix-en-Provence is about twenty miles north of Marseille. Surrounded by beautiful countryside, the city is centrally located for easy access to the French Riviera, and the countries of Spain, Switzerland and Italy.

"C'est bon! Travel! Travel!" says the up-and-coming student of French. But the academic work keeps one pretty busy, we soon find out.

Each student is expected to take French in addition to his regular courses. Several of the courses for which I can personally speak are: History of Modern Europe; Comparative Education; and Beginning French. These three have one thing in common — location. Studying these courses in their own backyard adds at least 100 points of interest rating!

Since I am working for a Teacher's Certificate, I've been especially interested in the Comparative Education course. Our class room work has been generously supplemented with field trips to French schools. We combine a study of the history of education with a comparison of the American, French, English and Russian systems. These aren't the only courses, though. I've got two more and there are others in the Social Sciences, Art and Literature.

Perhaps you are wondering what the catch is. Isn't a year abroad quite expensive? Well, it's going to cost more than a year in a state college, but about the same as a private college. Trans-Atlantic boat fare ranges between $165 and $185 for one way tourist class. The tuition of IAU is $660 for the year. And a student lives on about $50 to $60 a month in Aix. This totals up to $1440—$1570 for basic expenses over a nine month period.

Considering that the individual can arrange his extra-curricular expenses to suit his bank balance, this makes IAU one of the most reasonable programs of which I know.

THINKLISH

English: CLOWN WHO BLOWS FUNNY SMOKE RINGS

Thinklish translation: In three-ring circles, this fellow's known as "Mr. Funnyman" (largely because his name is Horace P. Funnyman). When he does his smoke-ring act, the tent's in stitches. Naturally, this world-famous puffoon chooses Lucky Strike. "I like the honest taste," he says. A canvass (or tent poll) of the Big Top shows that this is no freak sentiment.
